

New exhibit Celebrating New American Gardens opens at U.S. Botanic Garden

Washington, D.C. - The U.S. Botanic Garden (USBG) presents

Celebrating New American Gardens from January 31 through October 15, 2019. The exhibit showcases 21 gardens from across the United States that have opened or renovated a garden within the last five years. Photos, drawings, landscape designs, and project descriptions share the story of each new garden. Public gardens across America are engaging, inviting, and dynamic. Gardens are living creations, as they display seasonal changes along with a constant evolution. Gardens showcase new plant collections, create spaces for people to connect with nature, and foster sustainability.

"Gardens are always changing - with the seasons, with emerging gardening trends, and with their communities. We are excited to feature these new gardens and the diversity and beauty of modern garden projects," said Saharah Moon Chapotin, U.S. Botanic Garden executive director.

Gardens with projects featured in the exhibit are:

- Adkins Arboretum, Maryland
- Brooklyn Botanic Garden, New York
- Castle Hill on the Crane Estate, Massachusetts
- Chicago Botanic Garden, Illinois
- Denver Botanic Gardens, Colorado
- Fernwood Botanical Garden and Nature Preserve, Michigan
- Green Bay Botanical Garden, Wisconsin
